About

Faisal Naseem is an advocate in independent practice at New Delhi with twenty years at the Bar, enrolled with the Bar Council of Delhi in August 2006. His practice spans civil, commercial, arbitration and criminal law, conducted before the Supreme Court of India, the High Court of Delhi, the District and Commercial Courts of Delhi, and a range of specialised tribunals including the National Company Law Tribunal, the Debts Recovery Tribunal, arbitral tribunals, consumer fora, revenue courts and the Waqf Tribunal.

The core of the practice is high-stakes dispute resolution. Over two decades he has appeared and advised in matters concerning immovable property and title, construction and development contracts, joint ventures and collaboration arrangements, testamentary and succession disputes, landlord–tenant and eviction proceedings, recovery of monies and dishonoured instruments, insolvency and bankruptcy, land acquisition and the disputes that arise between citizens and urban local bodies. Alongside litigation, he advises on and drafts the underlying commercial documentation — collaboration agreements, commercial contracts, family settlements and real estate transaction documents — with an eye trained by the disputes those documents later generate.

A significant part of his professional record lies in acting for public authorities. He was empanelled as counsel for the Delhi Development Authority from 2018 to 2022 and appeared for the Authority in over two hundred matters before the Delhi High Court, the District Courts and arbitral tribunals, covering construction contracts and their arbitration, determination of leases, encroachment, fraudulent land transactions, unauthorised construction and land allotment disputes. He was earlier empanelled with the North Delhi Municipal Corporation from 2017 to 2018, handling civic services, urban body and regulatory compliance matters. That work has given him a working familiarity with the procurement, tendering and contractual practices of statutory bodies, and with the arbitral regime that governs their construction contracts.

He holds a Master's degree in Law in Criminal and Human Rights Law from the Indian Law Institute, New Delhi, where his dissertation examined the admissibility of illegally obtained evidence in comparative perspective, and a Post Graduate Diploma in International Trade Law from the same institution. He took his law degree from Campus Law Centre, Faculty of Law, University of Delhi, and holds a Bachelor of Commerce from Zakir Husain College, University of Delhi.

He has delivered honorary lectures on civil court practice at Galgotias University and Lloyd Law College, and maintains an active pro bono practice in collaboration with non-governmental organisations.

PART B — DUBAI-FACING ONE-PAGER

For Mr. Anup Juneja / consultancy circulation

FAISAL NASEEM Advocate, Bar Council of Delhi (Enrolment No. D/1281/2006) New Delhi, India

Profile

An advocate of twenty years' standing at the Indian Bar, practising before the Supreme Court of India, the High Court of Delhi, the Commercial Courts and a range of specialised tribunals. The practice is built around commercial dispute resolution, arbitration, real estate and contractual advisory, with a substantial record of acting for statutory and governmental authorities.

What I bring to a consultancy practice

- Commercial and construction arbitration. Two decades of arbitration work under the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996, including a large body of construction and development contract arbitrations conducted for the Delhi Development Authority. The subject matter — variation claims, delay and prolongation, determination of contracts, security and retention, enforcement of awards — maps directly onto the disputes that arise under FIDIC-form and UAE construction contracts.
- Real estate and development. Title investigation, collaboration and development agreements, lease determination, allotment and cancellation disputes, encroachment and unauthorised construction. Relevant to advisory work for Indian-origin investors in UAE real estate and for UAE entities holding or acquiring Indian assets.
- India-facing advisory for the Gulf market. For a Dubai consultancy serving a substantial Indian and NRI client base, I can act as the India-side capability: opinions on Indian law, due diligence on Indian counterparties and assets, enforcement of foreign awards and decrees in India, structuring of India-UAE transactions, succession and inheritance of Indian property by UAE residents, FEMA-adjacent transaction issues, and instruction and supervision of litigation in India.
- Drafting. Commercial contracts, joint venture and collaboration agreements, family settlements, conveyancing and transaction documentation.
- Corporate and insolvency. Proceedings before the National Company Law Tribunal under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code and before the Debts Recovery Tribunal.

Governmental engagements

Empanelled Counsel, Delhi Development Authority (2018–2022) — 200+ matters.

Empanelled Counsel, North Delhi Municipal Corporation (2017–2018).

Qualifications

LL.M., Criminal & Human Rights Law — Indian Law Institute, New Delhi Post Graduate Diploma, International Trade Law — Indian Law Institute, New Delhi LL.B. — Campus Law Centre, University of Delhi B.Com. — University of Delhi

UAE readiness

Documentation for registration on the Roll of Practising Legal Consultants (Legal Affairs Department, Government of Dubai) is complete: law degree attested and legalised, recognition from the Ministry of Higher Education and Scientific Research obtained, and Bar Council of Delhi good-standing certificate and experience letters in hand. Registration requires employment with a licensed firm, which is the remaining step.

PART D — DRAFTING NOTES

What I removed, and why

1. Date of birth and place of birth. Standard on an Indian CV, but on a public website it is an unnecessary personal data point and, in the Gulf and international market, reads as dated. Anup's office will ask for passport details separately if they need them.
2. "Nationality: Indian." Keep this on the CV you send for visa or licensing purposes; leave it off the website. It is implicit from the enrolment.
3. The word "Resume." A website profile is not a resume. The heading should be your name.

What I softened, and why

4. The original summary called the panel bodies "prestigious" and described you as "known for delivering strategic legal solutions with integrity and efficiency." Self-praise of this kind reads as weak in a UK/UAE-facing profile, where the convention is that the record speaks and the adjectives are left to others. I have replaced it with the specifics — 200+ DDA matters, the forums, the subject matter — which are more impressive precisely because they are verifiable.
5. "High-stakes disputes" is retained once, in Part A, but not repeated. Unsupported superlatives multiply badly.

What you should add before this goes live

6. Three to five representative matters, anonymised — "Acted for a development authority in a ₹X crore arbitration arising out of a delayed infrastructure contract" — with no client names and nothing that breaches privilege or a confidentiality clause. This is the single biggest upgrade available to the profile. Bar Council of India rules on advertising permit factual information on a website but not soliciting or comparative claims, so keep these descriptive and avoid outcome-boasting language.
7. Languages. English, Hindi, and any others. This matters in the Gulf market more than it does in Delhi.
8. A photograph. Plain background, formal, head and shoulders.
9. Reported judgments, if any of your matters are reported. Citations are worth more than any adjective.

Two cautions

10. Bar Council of India Rule 36. Your website may carry your name, enrolment particulars, qualifications, areas of practice and contact details. It must not solicit work, promise results, compare you to others, or claim to be the "best" or "leading."

Everything in Part A is drafted to stay inside that line. Watch the wording if you later add testimonials — those are the usual point of failure.

11. Do not describe yourself as a "Legal Consultant" in the UAE sense until you are on the LAD Roll. In Part B I have described the position accurately — documentation complete, registration pending employment with a licensed firm. That is a strength, not a weakness, and it is the honest position. An Indian advocate holding out as a UAE legal consultant before registration is a real regulatory exposure, and Anup's office will know it.

One suggestion on the approach to Anup Juneja

12. Send Part B, not Part A. Part A is a website; Part B is a proposition. Part B tells him what you can do for his practice rather than what you have done, which is the question his office is actually asking when it calls for a profile. If he comes back interested, the website is where he sends others to check you out.
